

NEWSLETTER 15: 1 APRIL 2022

Last week

Our apologies that this Newsletter did not come out on schedule last Friday. COVID hit our Management Team, but each affected member is thankfully now well and back to work.

Workshop 2

The first of these began this week – thanks again to Western Australia Education and Team Buddy Julia for being the first cab off the rank (again). And thanks to you all for working hard to tee up your own workshops. We know this is a tough month and some Team sessions have slipped beyond the window into May, but that is the reality of our full lives.

Report from Workshop 1 analysis

You would already have, or will receive via your Team Leader, a ‘redacted’ 7-page version of this report. We have kept back findings that might affect one of the Workshop 2 tasks – the full report will be released after all WS2s are completed. Again, our thanks to Julia, Wes and Chris for the work this has involved.

Delphi Survey 1

Julia and her team are beginning the task of analysing the first Delphi study using the analysis strategy developed through your work in Workshop 1. We will release those details in coming weeks, but the main interest will be the degree to which the identified priorities are mirrored or contrast between that group and the combined teams network.

Contract extensions

The University of Melbourne legal department are currently writing to the signatories on each of our 19 contracts, explaining our new finishing date (December 31st, 2022) due to COVID and other restrictions. We also have an updated ‘schedule of deliverables’ which you mostly already know about through our discussions, but may need for your files.

Café Sessions

These are now running smoothly. Each is being recorded and transferred to our website for you to access or pass on. Please feel free to offer to run one yourself – it’s a great way to tap into the >200 people in our IL+SE network, to build links around your own special interest areas. Contact Ramone if you have a topic and she will set you up.

Upcoming Café Session

- In societies that have extreme levels of inequality, for example, South Africa, India and Brazil, how might we explore and understand what an innovative learning environment is and how social inequalities might be either reproduced or disrupted through the relative experiences of students?*

Hosted by Adrienne Watson, South African Team, Mzansi, Tuesday 12 April, 10am (South Africa time) On Microsoft Teams

N.B All Café Sessions will be recorded and shared on the ILE+SE website

A4LE Europe Action Research Team

Our team is drawn from our multidisciplinary membership across Europe. It has been created to bring together representation from educators and design professionals from both the public and private sectors and all those passionate about the spaces and places that young people learn.

The team is composed of Alastair Blyth, UOW, Lene Jensby Lange, Autens, Terry White, A4le. (Team co-ordinators.) Other team members include Joss Boys, UCL, Michal Cohen, Walters and Cohen. Emma Greenland, Anderson Acoustics, Murray Hudson, Gratnells. Sandra Jenkins, Autens, Peter Kristiansen, SWECO, Bhavini Pandya, Planning Learning Spaces in Practice. Gary Spracklen, Prince of Wales School.

A4le Europe continues to build on its ‘Learning Spaces Live Events’. We have been successful in bringing together all those professionals who to put young people and those that support them at the heart of the design process of environments for learning.

1. Frederiksbjerg School, Henning Larsen.
