

NEWSLETTER 22: 29 July 2022

Covid

Many have been affected from Covid's latest surge, and we wish you the best if you have been affected. Our Management Team has also had interruptions to our work due to infections, thus a late Newsletter as we prioritise our activities.

Behind the scenes

In the last Newsletter we posted the Timeline to Completion. We are now in a period where the Management Team is working on reports, analysis and event planning. These are not high-visibility activities but are critical to focus on at present as we head towards the end-of-project Roundtables, drafting the white paper, and conceptualising the possibilities this material poses for long-term research focused on your needs.

Roundtables

The Australian Roundtable event (part of a 'LEaRN Week' set of events, 14-18th November) is well into its planning stages. If not already done, Kelly Day will be in touch regarding your flights and accommodation.

The Copenhagen Roundtable is pencilled in (the week of 28th November), and further details, plus the organising of flights etc, will happen as people begin to return from the summer break.

Regional Zooms

We intend to run a repeat of the informal regional zooms we conducted after Workshop 1. A spate of Covid, then Northern Hemisphere holidays has created some difficulty. The Regional Zooms that unpack Workshop 2/Delphi 1 findings will be announced as soon as possible. Thanks for your patience.

Delphi 2

Our second Delphi Survey was sent out in recent days, and we are pleased that we already have an approximately 25% response rate. We will keep you updated as this round of data collection proceeds.

Ramone

Ramone is well known to you all as the 'face' of ILE+SE and is your immediate contact. Ramone needs to step away from her project management duties for a short time, and Kelly Day and other members of the Management Team will monitor the 'info@ilesescopingstudy.com.au' email and will be available to answer any queries.
